

Do Not Sell My Personal Information

Under the California Consumer Privacy Act (“CCPA”), the sale of your personal information means the sharing of your personal information with certain third parties. Under the CCPA, consumers have the right to direct a business that sells personal information about the consumer to third parties not to sell the consumer’s personal information. Currently, we do not share your personal information in a manner that would be considered a sale under CCPA. We only disclose your personal information to our service providers pursuant to contracts that prohibit the service provider from using your personal information for any purpose other than those services specified in the contract.